THIRD GENERATION ELECTROSTIMULATION

The third generation is the latest technological update in advanced comprehensive electrostimulation. It is the first electrostimulation system that surpasses all the limitations of previous devices marketed in the market. These limitations are related to the freedom of movement in cable electrostimulation systems and the instability of the wave zin wireless systems.

We have managed to incorporate all the technology of the control unit into a compact device that is attached to the electrostimulation suit. This way, we achieve unlimited freedom of movement and a completely stable connection since there is no wireless connection.

MONITORING SOFTWARE

The live monitoring software of EMS Revolution® collects information on physiological parameters such as heart rate, calories burned, training zones, and the effect of the training performed.

To perform real-time EMS monitoring, the user should wear the heart rate monitor and the electrostimulation suit, with the option to add personal physiological data to significantly increase accuracy in assessments.

RESULTS REPORT PHYSIOLOGICAL PARAMETERS

The only system that automatically sends a results report with the training data.

What is most attractive to the customer is knowing how many calories have been burned after the exercise, the training zones, etc. This type of technology will give your center a more objective and appealing appearance, clearly setting you apart from the competition.

The objective data collection and training optimization provided by the EMS Revolution® monitoring software will facilitate customer loyalty.

BIOIMPEDANCE SCALE

Thanks to our latest technology incorporated for in-depth analysis of body tissues through electrical bioimpedance, we can obtain results such as % muscle mass, % fat mass, % bone tissue, visceral fat, or BMI.
